

Red alder (Alnus rubra)

Red alder likes to grow in dense, dark stands in cool, moist environments. By dropping green leaves and having bacteria in its roots that capture nitrogen from the air, alder helps enrich the soil around it.

As a red alder you need

- *4 water chips
- *1 sun chip
- *2 nutrient chips

Red alder (Alnus rubra)

Red alder likes to grow in dense, dark stands in cool, moist environments. By dropping green leaves and having bacteria in its roots that capture nitrogen from the air, alder helps enrich the soil around it.

As a red alder you need

- *4 water chips
- *1 sun chip
- *2 nutrient chips

Red alder (Alnus rubra)

Red alder likes to grow in dense, dark stands in cool, moist environments. By dropping green leaves and having bacteria in its roots that capture nitrogen from the air, alder helps enrich the soil around it.

As a red alder you need

- *4 water chips
- *1 sun chip
- *2 nutrient chips

Red alder (Alnus rubra)

Red alder likes to grow in dense, dark stands in cool, moist environments. By dropping green leaves and having bacteria in its roots that capture nitrogen from the air, alder helps enrich the soil around it.

As a red alder you need

- *4 water chips
- *1 sun chip
- *2 nutrient chips